SLAYINGS IN WAVE OF REPRISALS

Situation is More Menacing Than Ever Before in History

(BULLETIN.)
BY EARLE C. REEVES
[STAFF CORRESPONDENT I. N. SERVICE]
LONDON, Nov. 22.—The following formal announcement was made at the Irish office:
"Fourteen persons were killed at Dublin in the Sunday morning raids by Sinn Féin. Twelve persons were killed at Cork and the afternoon. The total number of persons killed in the week-end disorders in Ireland were 33."

(INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE)
LONDON, Nov. 22.—"It is imperative necessary for the government to announce publicly that for every servant of the crown treacherously murdered in Ireland, two or even three Sinn Féin shall be executed without trial," said the Globe today. "We cannot extinguish the fires of terrorism by sprinkling rosewater upon them."

BY EARLE C. REEVES
[STAFF CORRESPONDENT I. N. SERVICE]
LONDON, Nov. 22.—More than 30 persons have been killed in Ireland in the bloodiest week-end the country has ever known. Between 70 and 100 were wounded.

Sir Hamar Greenwood, chief secretary for Ireland, held a long conference with Premier Lloyd George to devise means of checking the terrible growth of Irish violence.
Following the wave of assassination and reprisal violence on Sunday, Dublin was taken over by British troops. The Dublin population spent a night of terror. Street fighting broke out between Sinn Féin rioters and black and tan policemen and many were wounded on both sides. Several Sinn Féin were captured. Troops surrounded Dublin while policemen in the city made numerous raids arresting large numbers of persons.

Threats of assassination have been made against officials of the British office. All officials are armed. A triple guard of policemen surrounds the Irish office.
In addition to the attack upon their offices and officials in Dublin on Sunday morning when 14 were killed and the reprisal attack by black and tan policemen at Cork Saturday afternoon when many Sinn Féin were killed and wounded, Dublin castle today reported outbreaks in other parts of Ireland where several persons were shot to death.

A detachment of black and tans was ambushed near Limerick. One was killed and the others were seriously wounded. Considerable damage was done to the castle. Subsequently black and tans raided the castle.
The telegraph wires became silent during the morning and at noon the Irish office announced that no further details had been received of Irish outbreaks.
An earlier dispatch from Cork said that British soldiers and black and tans were making wholesale raids. Sinn Féin leaders at Cork claim to have information that the British authorities plan to equip automobiles with poison gas projectors for the protection of lorries from ambush.

A civilian was shot to death in Mount Joy Square at midnight while on his way home.
Two corpses were picked up in Merrion St., Dublin. A dead man was found in a house near Crooke Park. He is believed to have been killed at the park and carried into the house. A ministerial council was summoned during the morning to discuss the latest Irish outbreak.

The situation is more menacing than ever before and the Daily Mail reports that the government is making hasty preparations to send heavy troops reinforcements into Ireland. English officials express fears that the campaign of assassination may spread from Ireland to England.

There was intense military activity at Dublin throughout the night and many arrests were made. Five broke out and there was much shooting. The curfew regulations at Dublin have been tightened and all train service has been suspended. The mail service via Kingstown has been suspended also.

The Dublin press spread outside of Dublin to Drangon, where a civilian was killed in a clash between policemen and republicans. A number of arrests were made.
Premier Lloyd George, War Secretary Winston Churchill and Sir Hamar Greenwood, chief secretary for Ireland, are keeping in constant touch with Dublin castle by telephone and wireless.

"It is incumbent upon the government to crush the Irish murder campaign and martial law throughout Ireland seems the only sure remedy," said the Morning Post.

The two main attacks on Sunday occurred at the Gresham Hotel where a number of army officers who had taken part in recent court-martial of Sinn Féin were living and at Crooke Park during a football match and black and tan policemen opened fire upon the crowd.
The attack upon British army officers at the hotel Gresham was carefully executed and after the shooting most of the assailants were wounded. Nearly all of the officers were in bed when the Sinn Féin broke into the hotel.

The official announcement said that in addition to the officers killed four others were desperately wounded. Dublin castle said that the high British military officials feared reprisals and special precautions had taken to prevent them.

"The outbreak was a foul culmination of numerous wickedness on both sides," said the Daily Mail, "commenting on the wholesale killings. Reprisals cannot be expected. They have already brought chaos to Ireland and shame to England."
"Incidental harm has been done to the cause of Ireland," said the Times.

FIGHT FOR THE SPEAKERSHIP IS ATTRACTING ATTENTION

GARY MAN PROPOSING CANDIDATE

Extensive Campaign Is Being Waged By Various Candidates

(TIMES BUREAU AT STATE CAPITAL)
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 22.—Although the 1921 session of the Indiana General Assembly will not convene for six weeks, a most extensive campaign is already being waged by the various candidates for the speakership of the house.
Glenn Harris of Gary and Jacob Miltenberger of Muncie continue to be in the limelight as the most likely candidates for the place. Opposition to these leading figures is growing daily, however. Harris who spent some time in Indianapolis last week building up his fence, resists the action of Governor Goodrich in appointing Otto G. Fifield, also of Lake county, to the legislative visiting committee.

THINK IT WAS PREMEDITATED
Members of the Tenth district delegation feel that the appointment of Fifield was a deliberate act to put Harris out of the running. It is related that the Lake county representatives and the Republican organization in Lake county to the Tenth district, was not consulted in the appointment of Fifield. They, therefore, do not believe that Harris should be eliminated from the race.

The word is going the rounds that Miltenberger is the favorite of Governor Goodrich. Many members of the assembly believe that if this is true that Miltenberger should not be selected for the post. There is no malice in their stand. They simply believe that the speaker of the house should be a man who would have the endorsement of the incoming governor instead of being the selection of the outgoing executive. Of course, if Governor-elect McCray signifies that he would be satisfied with the selection of Miltenberger, then things would be different. So far, however, there has been no word from Mr. McCray, either directly or indirectly, that he favors the selection of Miltenberger.

MARION CO. IS SPLIT
Marion county representatives are hopelessly split on the matter of the speakership. There are three candidates for the place from Marion county who are avowed candidates and others are in a receptive mood.
The other day the Marion county delegation held a meeting in the hopes of settling upon one candidate. The meeting did not bear fruit, at the end of the session they were just as badly split as before. This condition, of course, puts the candidates from the capital out of the running completely.

There continues to be talk of naming a speaker from the southern part of the state. Claude A. Smith, of Princeton, a new member of the House, is consistently named as the man from the southern section who will receive the support of the representatives favoring such a selection.
Delayed action in taking legislative recognition of the comparatively low salaries received by public officials of the state and counties is now believed to have been the wise course. Many bills for higher pay were introduced in the special session in July, but most of them were side-tracked. Since that time the predicted decline in prices has set in.

WHAT STATE OFFICIALS FEAR
It was the fear of the state officials and others having the welfare of the state at heart that salaries of public officials would be boosted just before the return to normal in prices. The result would have been that public offices would be paid clear out of proportion to their services in years to come. Now it is believed that the times of hardship for public officials are about over. There is an increasing sentiment among members of the assembly to let salaries in general remain as they are except in cases of glaring inequity.
There will be no dearth of bills before the assembly. From present indications there will be an unusually large number of measures presented. The department of legislative information now has several scores of requests for information on bills to be presented. A number of bills are already being drafted by the department.

GRAND JURY IN SPECIAL SESSION

*EVANSVILLE, Ind., Nov. 22.—The Vanderburg county grand jury met in special session today to make an investigation into the alleged shortage of Carl A. Heldt, former assistant cashier of the Mercantile Commercial bank here. C. H. Battin, president of the bank, stated today that Heldt's alleged shortage will run from $15,000 to $30,000. Rumors that others are involved in the shortage were denied.

8 KILLED IN ITALIAN RIOTING

ROME, Nov. 22.—Eight persons were killed and 64 wounded in rioting at Bologna, said a dispatch from that city today. Three bombs were exploded during the meeting of the municipal council. A battle with revolutionaries raged in the streets for several hours.

Shocked to Hear News of Accident

(SPECIAL TO THE TIMES)
MERRILLVILLE, Ind., Nov. 20.—This place was more than shocked to learn of the terrible fate that befell James Caugherty, one of the best known men who was killed Friday evening in the American Sheet and Tin Plate Mills at Gary. He leaves seven children and other relatives to mourn his loss. Mr. Caugherty was 53 years of age and the way in which he met his end is not known here. The funeral was held from the Merrillville church this afternoon at two o'clock.

GARY MAN IS SHOT AT BURNHAM

Argument Over Piano Playing Results in Murder, Chicago Man is Held

After a comparative quietude of several months, Burnham once more broke into the limelight this morning, with a murder. The victim is A. B. Hegig, 16 West Tenth ave., Gary.
Hegig and several friends were at Burnham Inn during the night. At 4 o'clock this morning a remnant of the night cabaret crowd still remained. The merzime was dancing and Geo. W. McKay, who played the piano with the jazz orchestra, decided it was time to knock off work. He prepared to leave the restaurant but protests were voiced by the crowd.

The manager McKay and asked him to furnish music for the crowd a little longer. The piano player objected. An argument followed between the two and in a short time several of the visitors were also inserting a word now and then. Among these was Hegig who it is said had been drinking very heavily. Hegig it seems, tried to take charge of the argument himself. Finally he was going to take McKay back to his piano by physical force when the latter drew a gun and fired.

The bullet penetrated Hegig's brain. He was rushed to St. Margaret's hospital in Hammond where he died at 7:30 o'clock this morning. He was employed as a barber in Gary and was 32 years old. The only relative located at noon today was a man who claimed to be a brother. He was of Serbian descent and spoke little English.
McKay, who lives at 219 South Honore st., Chicago, is being held by the Burnham police.

SMASH WINDOWS WITH BOTTLES

In a "friendly" fight among several men in front of the restaurant at 114 Sibley street, Hammond, two windows were smashed last night. Police arrested Max Wagner, 1927 Columbus ave., Hammond; Elias Fowler, 247 Locust street, Hammond; and Alfred Helton, 1642 Vincennes ave., Chicago Heights.
The men were arraigned in police court this morning on disorderly conduct charges. They admitted they had been drinking and were not sure what they were scrapping about. The trouble started in the restaurant and was later transferred to the sidewalk. Milk bottles were handy as weapons, but it seems that none of the combatants suffered from contact with them. The windows were the victims. Each man was fined $11.

BANDITS ROB TRUST CO.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 22.—Three armed bandits entered the Penn avenue branch of the Metropolitan Trust company a few minutes before noon today, held up Cashier James Richardson and two girl clerks, grabbed a number of packages of money lying on the counter and then escaped in an automobile. Bank officials have not yet announced the amount of money taken.

TEN DIE IN QUEBEC FIRE

QUEBEC, Que., Nov. 22.—At least ten persons, mostly women and children, are dead and half a dozen others, including some firemen are dying as a result of a conflagration which started last night, wiped out a large section of a French settlement just outside of Quebec, causing damage estimated at more than $500,000.

HOGS DROP TO NEW LEVEL

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Nov. 22.—Hog prices on the local market today dropped to the lowest level since 1912. Good heavy hogs went at $10.75 and the top price was only $11.25, a drop of 40 to 65 cents under Saturday's market.

WANTON DESTRUCTION OF PROPERTY OCCURS

Plate Glass Windows in J. Rimbach Bldg. Smashed

REWARD OFFERED
I will give $100 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who wantonly and maliciously smashed the windows in the building occupied by the Lion Store.
J. RIMBACH.

Three plate glass windows, two on Rimbach avenue and one on Sibley street in the Rimbach building in Hammond, rented by Messrs. Kaufman and Wolf as a department store, were wantonly smashed last Saturday night by having rocks thrown through them. The missiles were found in the store yesterday. No clue was obtained to the destruction of the windows which had early in the clerk's strike that the strike leaders might not be able to control such acts. The loss will not fall upon the store but upon the owners of the building.

Law-abiding citizens greatly deplore such lawless tactics and fail to see how the wanton destruction of property will strengthen the cause of the pickets and enlist public sympathy for them.

LADS STEAL CAR BUT GAS PLAYS OUT TOO SOON

Lack of gasoline was responsible for the capture of two budding automobile thieves Saturday evening. They are Charles Clayton, 230 State st., Hammond, and Carlo Young, 1040 Ray avenue, Hammond.

Frank Furstenbaugh had stopped his Ford in front of the Methodist church on Russell street, Saturday evening. He was inside only a short time but on returning he found only the broken padlock and chain with which he locked the machine. The Ford was gone. Later in the evening the police found the two boys cranking the car on Summer street. It had run out of gas.

The boys were placed under arrest and when arraigned in the city court this morning, they insisted the had just found the car deserted on Summer st. and were trying to start it to take a little ride. Upon their own statements they were bound over to the Criminal court at Crown Point. Both lads have attracted the attention of the police before and this is not the first time they have been in trouble.

One of the boys when arrested, had a revolver in his possession while the other had several revolver cartridges. Later the revolver was found lying at the side of the road where it had been thrown while the officer who made the arrest, was telephoning for the patrol wagon.

RAILROAD TRAGEDY

The second death in less than two weeks by railroad accidents in the Lake Shore at Indiana Harbor occurred last night when Cleo Alabundo, residing at 2365 Walling st., was instantly killed by east bound train No. 64, while crossing the tracks near the bridge at the Mark plant.

Alabundo who was employed by the Mark plant, was on his way home from work in company with two Mexicans. Upon reaching the center of the crossing all three men stopped. It is alleged that the two Mexicans struck Alabundo on the head with some instrument as he was seen to fall just before the train approached.

The train which was coming at a fair rate of speed, usually slows down at this particular spot. The engineer of the passenger upon seeing the man lying on the tracks, immediately applied the brakes, but was unable to stop the train before striking the dead man.

This is the same scene of the fatal accident of three days ago, when the body of Charles Olson, who was found badly mangled. One of his legs, and both of his arms are still missing and it is believed that they were thrown in the canal.

That both deaths have in the beginning been the work of foul play is the opinion of the police, is accounted for by the fact that the Mexicans had been seen with both of the dead men previous to their deaths.

No trace has been found of the Mexicans, who are believed to have fled from the Harbor, immediately after the accident.

SHOEMAKER IS ARRESTED

Philip Sabba, a shoemaker residing at 357 Hohman street, Hammond, was arrested this morning charged with assault with intent to commit rape upon a 13-year-old girl. Sabba is said to have enticed the girl into the room at the rear of his shoe shop where he tried to force her to have sexual intercourse. The shoemaker was later released after he had furnished $2,000 bond. The case will probably be sent to the criminal court at Crown Point.

WHO SAID WAGE IS NOT SATISFYING?

Visit to Department Stores Brings Out Interesting Facts Relative to Clerk's and the Wages That are Paid Them.

What are the facts that attach to the picketing of the Hammond department stores and the harassing of the proprietors with an attempt to force union labor not to shop in the stores under threats of the visitation of a penalty?

Is the public interested in the facts? The true statement of these facts would be a revelation to a great many union men who until this series of articles came to light have had no accurate knowledge of them.

Not only is the general public interested in the unfortunate situation but inquiry shows that the union men have interested himself insofar as to want to know the other side of the controversy and the real status of the boycott situation.

READY FOR THE TRUTH

The union men know that he has been forbidden to trade in the department stores as well as all the members of his family. His freedom is taken away from him. He knows that these stores under the ban have always been favorable to organized labor. He knows that outside agitators are in Hammond fomenting the difference and are liberally paid to do so and he is curious to know the ins and outs of the controversy because the union worker is fair minded and too independent to be lead around with a ring in his nose. He knows that he is perpetually called upon to contribute a sum out of his weekly stipend for the maintenance of idle young men and girls on the streets of the city and he wants to know why.

The agitators tell him the boycott is due to the starvation wages paid the girls in the stores.

A VISIT TO THE STORES

A Times representative visited the department stores affected and received the impression that the true facts were quite in contrast to the talk and propaganda circulated by the strike agitators. He learned that it never was a question of wages and that the girls never have been dissatisfied with what they were getting. Merchants stated that the minimum wage paid was $12 and only to beginners at that. He was surprised to find out many of the salesladies were paid from $15 to $20 per week for their services. Inquiry among the clerks themselves brought out the fact that the starvation wage story was untrue and only existed in the minds of the strike agitators. The clerks—men and girls alike—were found to be happy and contented and moreover 70 per cent of them were back at work.

WAGES ARE SATISFACTORY

One of the girls clerks said: "I know it to be a fact that the stores have no grievances against the union. The wages are not a question here because they are very satisfactory. What a Clerk gets depends on herself. She gets $12 a week when she begins and when she learns her duties she gets much more."

An interesting interview was obtained from a young woman who started in at the bottom of the ladder and worked her way up to a sales manager. She told of a visit she made to East Chicago the other day where she met a girl whom she worked with ten years ago. Both were paid $10 a week. "She is still getting $18 a week," said the saleswoman, "and today I am getting three times that much and by application to my work I will get more."

TRAINING IS INEVITABLE

One of the clerks pointed out a fifteen year old boy in one of the stores who was getting $16 a week and asked if that was a starvation wage for a boy.

It developed that many parents are proud to have their boys and girls get positions in the department stores because of the valuable business training they are acquiring. "No matter," said one father, "what my boy does in future life, the business experience he is getting now will be a great asset to him and something money cannot buy."

A trip through these stores would give any union man the knowledge the employees are content with the wages and training they are getting.

SPURNS ONE MILLION DOLLARS

BUZZARDS BAY, Mass., Nov. 22.—Spurned—one million dollars; motives, idealistic.
Charles Garland, direct descendant of Tudor Kings and son of the late Charles A. Garland, Bay State millionaire, today let it be known he has declined to accept his share of the vast estate of his father.

"I did nothing to earn it," he says. "Instead he will turn to manual labor—automobile mechanic—for the support of himself, wife and infant daughter."
Explaining why he spurns the $1,000,000 gift the "intense individualist," who has bewildered the administrator of the estate, said:
"I did nothing to earn the money. I wasn't even given an opportunity to decide whether I needed it. It is more than any man needs. It might be doing poor people a lot of good instead of accumulating to no purpose."
"I do not believe in private property. It takes all the meaning from life."

DEATH CLAIMS GLEN DICKOVER

Well Known Hammond Young Man Succumbs to Heart Disease

Hammond people were shocked to learn this morning of the death of a popular Hammond young man in the person of Glen A. Dickover, aged 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Dickover, at his home, 44 Ruth street. He had been ailing with heart trouble for several weeks, but his condition was not regarded as serious until a short time before his death which occurred early Sunday morning. He was a graduate of the Hammond high school and after attending college was employed as a book keeper in the offices of the Northern Indiana Gas and Electric company. Besides his father and mother, he is survived by two sisters. The funeral will take place from the family residence tomorrow afternoon, interment at Oak Hill in charge of Emmerling.

Mrs. Maggie Jones, wife of a mill worker was busy with household duties Saturday afternoon when two men entered the yard of her home at 1709 Jefferson street, Gary. The men asked two children as play on the porch if there was anyone in the house and they called their mother.

The strangers walked into the house without an invitation. One of the pair demanded to know if Mr. Jones was home. The woman said he was at work and then becoming suspicious stated that two men were asleep in the house and she did not want them disturbed.

"Won't you step out on the porch and state your business?" she asked.
Without answering the men went into the various rooms of the house and found them empty. Mrs. Jones related the story and when they attempted to follow her slammed the door, running from the house. She called Frank Harris, a neighbor. When Harris came the men covered him with guns and robbed him of his watch and $38.

The police have arrested Fred Danelli, 1737 Adams street, who has been identified by Mrs. Jones and Harris as one of the robbers.

Big Raid of Chicago Gamblers

800 are Taken in Spectacular Raids on City's Biggest Gambling Dens

(INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE)
CHICAGO, Nov. 22.—More than 800 gamblers, taken in the greatest raid that Chicago has ever known, all the police stations today. Police reports declare further raids are contemplated as a part of a campaign launched by Chief of Police Fitzmorris to "clean up" Chicago.

The men in custody today were taken in a series of spectacular raids on some of the most notorious gambling houses in the city. Many of them, the police declare, have been found to be men with police records. These are being kept on exhibition and all persons who have been robbed in Chicago recently have been asked to view them in an attempt at identification.

Among the gamblers apprehended was Nick Donolas, known as "Nick the Greek," one of Chicago's most noted devotees of games of chance. He is said to have had $100,000 in his possession when arrested.

All of the men taken are being held under strict orders and efforts of friends to obtain their release have been frustrated by police.

Two alert Gary policemen last night interrupted the fight and was believed to have attempted another of the cold clothing store robberies that have cost Broadway merchants thousands of dollars.

Patrolman Tansel gave chase to a man on Washington street near the Michigan Central tracks. The suspect was bleeding and being unable to explain how he met with the accident he was arrested, giving his name and address as Harry Nabeaum, Old Rooster Hotel, Tenth and Washington.

Anderson caught another man who is held on an open charge with Nabeaum. The second fellow said he was Chas. Johnson of 327 Adams street.

Shortly after the two arrests were made the police discovered that the display window of the Rapiach Clothing Company on Broadway had been broken in a clothing store including a overcoat which the owner said was the one worn by Nabeaum.
